

Thank you for having signed up to Bienarté's Foundations in Oils course this term. Our Founder – Marcel Desbiens – has been developing this in-studio workshop for the past 20 years and he is so proud of you for investing in yourself with art.

In previous years, when a student has had to miss one of the classes for personal reasons, it has been difficult for them to catch up – relying on their own ability to practice at home without tuition.

So, over the last 2 years, Marcel has invested in a new venture that has brought his 8-week Foundations in Oils workshop to an online audience through step-by-step, professionally filmed, video tuition.

All the theories presented at Bienarte, along with live demonstrations, are now available on video in High Definition. Marcel's lessons are structured to allow students to build on their prior knowledge and the online workshop follows the same structure as the face-to-face workshop.

For the first time, if you unfortunately miss one or more of the weekly classes, you can access the online course. As you would own the rights to view the course permanently, and to learn at home and at your own pace, there is a nominal $50 cost that gives you immediate, life-time access to a single lesson (equivalent to one full week of class). These single lesson videos are exclusive to the students enrolled in the Foundations in Oils Course at Bienarté.

Alternately, if you would like a permanent online reference, with all lessons, demonstrations and tutorials for you to watch over and over again, we have made this 8-week package available for registered Bienarté students only, at a 50% discount of the normal price, that's just $240 for life-time access!

If you would like to have permanent online access to this 8-week workshop, just follow the link below:
