

Having a hair cut

Having a hair cut

The hair on my head grows.

Each day it gets a little bit longer.

Sometimes it needs to be cut.
It is okay to get my haircut.

Having a hair cut

When my hair is too long I will go to the hairdresser to get it cut.

The hairdresser uses scissors to cut hair

When I get to the hairdresser I will walk into the shop.

I or the person I'm with will tell the hairdresser that we are there for a haircut.

I may have to wait my turn. I can sit in the “waiting chairs” until they tell us it is my turn.

Next, I will sit in a different chair. The hairdresser can move the chair up and down.

This is OK. This helps the hairdresser reach my hair and see me properly.

Having a hair cut

The hairdresser will put a cape on me. The cape keeps hair off me. It's okay to wear a cape.

I will try to sit still for the hairdresser. This helps the hairdresser cut my hair properly.

The hairdresser will cut my hair while I watch in the mirror.

Then the hairdresser will take off the cape.

This means my haircut is finished.

Nice haircuts make me feel happy.
My hair will look great!
