

Feedback, Complaints and Training Disputes – Explanatory Document

There are a variety of mechanisms available to stakeholders participating in the James Cook University General Practice Training program (JCU GP Training), who wish to provide feedback or lodge a complaint, and for registrars who may disagree with a training decision. A summary of these mechanisms is provided in the table below. JCU GP Training expects all stakeholders to pursue resolutions informally and at the most local level possible in the first instance, before considering more formal mechanisms which may be available.

Summary table of feedback, complaints and review of training decision mechanisms
