PLANNING AND UNDERTAKING RESEARCH WORKSHOP

Always been interested in research but a bit unsure?
This workshop was designed for you!!

The workshop is a free, professional development opportunity that covers the steps involved in planning and undertaking health research. Learn from short plenaries from health researchers and local research experts, then apply these learnings to a hypothetical research project in small groups.

WHAT TO EXPECT

- Short plenaries on topics including: identifying a research question; developing a search strategy; matching a research question to a study design; necessary approval pathways; different ways to collect and analyse data; dissemination and impact.
- Worked examples of how the theory relates to a “case-of-the-day” and
- Applied small group activities to put learnings into practice
