

Research Support Services available for JCU MBBS Students interested in submitting an abstract for MED NORRTH 2026

MED NORRTH Conference
Saturday, August 1st, 2026 - Cairns

Are you interested in submitting an abstract for the upcoming MED NORRTH 2026 conference but feel like you need some help?

We can help you by:

- ❖ Offering personalised support: Our research team will organize in-person or online drop-in sessions to assist you with structuring your abstract.
- ❖ Guiding you through the process: Offer help with every step of the process, from abstract submission to presentation preparation.

If you have conducted research in the past or are currently involved in a research study and are excited about presenting your work at the MED NORRTH conference but are unsure where to start, how to structure your research abstract, or have questions about abstract submission, we are here to help!

What are the benefits?

- ❖ Showcase your research: Present your findings to a professional audience and gain recognition.
- ❖ Enhance your skills: Improve your research and presentation skills with our support.
- ❖ Network with experts and peers: Connect with leading researchers, professionals, and fellow students.

Eligible research designs for submission include, but are not limited to:

- Primary studies
- Clinical audits
- Systematic/scoping/narrative literature reviews
- Case studies
- Qualitative research

To find out more:

- ❖ Send us an email at cmd.impact@jcu.edu.au to express your interest or to access support.

OR

- ❖ Join in via a drop-in session: Available to students based in Townsville, Cairns, or Mackay.

Abstract submissions are now open

*The closing date for abstracts: June 15th, 2026.

We look forward to supporting you and seeing your incredible research at the conference!

Click here for more information:

<https://www.nqrth.edu.au/news/upcoming-events/med-norrth/>