PUNQ

Welcome to PUNQ 2021

Pop Up North Queensland (PUNQ) is Umbrella Studio Contemporary Arts' premier festival which celebrates the most exciting visual and performance artists of North Queensland (NQ). It also welcomes renowned First Nations and Australian collaborations to engage audiences with exhibitions, installations, performances and workshops.

PUNQ 2021 celebrates the distinct landscapes of NQ to inspire cultural exchange and reimagine expectations, transform perceptions and provide unique creative experiences for locals and visitors alike.

This year's festival expands across the region, from its roots on Wulgurukaba and Bindal Country (Townsville) to include Yunbenun (Magnetic Island), Warrgamay, Nywaigi & Bandjin Country (Hinchinbrook) and Gudjal Country (Charters Towers). Umbrella has partnered with arts and cultural organisations to showcase artists and creatives across these four locations.

New in 2021 is a series of site specific artworks commissioned for the festival. We have invited 11 local and interstate artists and organisations to respond to the histories, present, and futures of North Queensland spaces and places. The result is a unique offering of new work, including David Rowe's crop circles installation in the sugar cane fields in Ingham Site #272, and performative art engaging with the land by Jill Chism on the Pallarenda beach Preserve/Conserve. This new program is sure to engage, entertain and challenge all audiences. Both Ways is a First Nations Billboard exhibition commission that connects our program on the mainland from Warrgamay, Nywaigi & Bandjin Country (Hinchinbrook) to Gudjal Country (Charters Towers) whilst illuminating often unheard stories of the Traditional Owners of Australia. On Yunbenun (Magnetic Island), Jenny Mulcahy invites you to explore the early quarantine history of the island in her immersive multimedia installation The Mark, while Jan Hynes' Drop Bears offers a playful journey to spot the mythological drop bears on the Forts Walk. In Townsville Dancenorth are asking festival goers to step into the unknown in their mysterious new site-specific performance World Interior. You can find out more about these spectacular projects in the online program.

The mainstay of pop-up spaces and experiences returns this year with local artists presenting a stellar combination of exhibitions, performances and contemporary artisan workshops.

You can explore our program by Indigenous Country and schedule. We also have some suggested itineraries for you. Resonating across the PUNQ 2021 program is the notion of 'place'. First Nations' Arts and Culture are at the heart of this place we gather on. We are very pleased to be launching the festival at Big Eye Arts & Culture Centre, where we will reveal their major new mural commission and celebrate the work of emerging artist Stephen Oliver, who draws on his Waanyi, Kuku Yalanji, and Erub heritage in his new exhibition.

Please enjoy exploring all that PUNQ 2021 has to offer. We can't wait to share North Queensland with you!

Untitled (gloves)

Tania Lou Smith

MAP: G

Untitled (gloves) is a performance-based video work situated in Townsville's Bulletin Square and surrounds. In the video, a woman wears comically large and exaggerated bubble-gum pink gloves. The gloves have elongated fingers and reach up past the shoulders, drawing domesticity into the public sphere, in strange and disturbing ways.

Performance Art | FREE | 1 - 8 AUG | OLD JETTY BEACH IN PALLARENDA

Preserve/Conserve

Jill Chism

Preserve/Conserve - Invocation #3: Openness - Going with the Flow offers perspectives on human behaviour and attitudes, and the importance of the preservation of marine life and their habitats. Performed over an eight-day period, Jill will move with the tides on Shelly Cove in Pallarenda, printing words in salt directly to the sand when the tide withdraws to its furthest point only to be washed away once the water returns to shore. Image: Tim Ellis.

Public Artwork | FREE | 30 JUL - 8 AUG | TOWNVILLE CITY COUNCIL FORECOURT

After

Alison McDonald

After is an installation that offers hope, created from once highly valued wooden parquetry flooring which has been degraded by flood water. Each individual wooden finger has been scraped of glue, sanded and cleaned, and will be re-laid in the shape of Ross River with many of the fingers laser cut with Townsville street names that flooded in 2019.

Public Artwork | FREE | 30 JUL - 8 AUG | PERFUME GARDENS

Botanica-Techno

Diffraction Collective

Diffraction Collective artists have collaborated to create a multimedia installation, a 3D hybrid, fantastical creature Botanica Techno. Botanica refers to botany, biology, and biotechnology. Techno denotes the technical expertise and technology used to enhance this site-specific artwork. Botanica Techno's visual design elements refer to the fungi, fauna, and flora of the NQ environment, the Perfume Gardens, and the surrounding architectural design elements.

Billboard Exhibition

Both Ways

Tony Albert, Gail Mabo, Libby Harward, and Bural Bural (Patsy Dallachy), presenting archival images along the Bruce & Flinders Highway departing Townsville.

Using the ubiquitous and popular mode of commuter advertising, the billboard, this exhibition illuminates First Nations stories of the lands traversed between Warrgamay, Nywaigi & Bandjin Country (Hinchinbrook) through Wulgurukaba and Bindal Country (Townsville) to Gudjal Country (Charters Towers). Both Ways brings together contemporary artwork and archival images to explore the larger narratives of Indigenous Australia, highlighting histories and voices that are often unheard in popular forums in North Queensland.
