Small Goods a hit for the 2018 Perth Royal Food Awards

After a successful 2017 Perth Royal Food Awards season, the Royal Agricultural Society of Western Australia has introduced new categories for the 2018 Awards, with the Perth Royal Smallgoods Awards taking center stage.

Five classes will be judged, including; Bacon, Ham, Air Dried Cured Meats, Salami and Chorizo. John Clarke, Coordinator of the new award, is excited to have more entries than ever expected in its first year including competitors; Mondo Di Carne, Harvey Beef and Swansea Street Meat Market.

“All of the competitors are well known for their quality meats, it’s going to be a tight competition,” mentioned Mr. Clarke.

The judging panel will be led by Chief Judge Winfried Schnur of D’orsogna, one of Western Australia’s only certified Fleishmiesters with an abundance of experience and knowledge in the Small Goods industry.

Judging will take place 22 of June, Claremont Showground.

*Filming, photographic and interview opportunities are available.
Please note, the Smallgoods Awards Dinner is being held on Fri 29 June, 5pm
Wilkinson Gallery, Claremont Showgrounds*
