NSW State and National Masters Rowing Championships

Wrap up of the 2017-2018 Masters Rowing Season

Since the last report the Australian Masters Championships have been contested at Lake Barrington in Tasmania, the NSW Masters Championships have been completed and the Point Score decided.

The Australian Masters Championships (AMC's).

Approximately 180 of the 877 competitors (from 87 clubs) came from NSW Clubs. The main contributors to this were Mosman (~38), Glebe (~24), and Drummoyne (~18). Sydney (12) and North Shore (10) headed the remaining 19 clubs with small numbers, down to Coffs Harbour with Tim Willsallen their only representative who won the MF1x (from 12 competitors) in one of the closest finishes of the four days of racing with a margin of only 0.09 seconds.

One has to be wary of medal tables because they are ranked on Gold medals and there is no distinction between Medals won in events with 20 entries or 2 entries or between events with an ultimate winner compared with Mixed events with Divisions where one club actually won Gold medals in more than one division. Nevertheless, there were 5 Victorian clubs and 3 Queensland clubs in the top 10, with Mosman 7th. NSW had 5 clubs in the top 20, which considering the number of competitors in those clubs, was an outstanding result.

NSW scullers performed very well winning six of the eighteen contested Single Scull events. The other winners were Katrina Davis (Shoalhaven) winning both the WA1x and WB1x events beating 18 and 7 other scullers respectively, Jason Waddell, the MA1x also beating 18 other entrants, Jannet Pendleton (North Shore) the WG1x, Graham Nix (Manning River) the MH1x and Kevin Wall (Balmain) the MPara 1x.

P.O. Box 208, FIVE DOCK N.S.W. 2046

Apart from the Single scullers, NSW Clubs won 12 other events rowing in non-composite crews: Mosman 5, North Shore 4, Nepean 2 and Sydney 1. There were many other events where NSW whole crews took out the medal for the first non-composite crew in a final. David Greenslade and Roger Brighton of Sydney Rowing Club won the MD2- from a large field of 18 crews. Mosman’s WG4x and MH2x also won from large fields.

The AMC’s usually attract lots of composite crews, especially in the larger boats. Of the 98 Eights that competed, only 38 of them were whole Club crews. The North Shore WF8+ was one of 4 Club crews in a field of 10 and gained a Silver medal, and this was the best result for a NSW Whole Club Eight in “open” events.

Two events that are fiercely contested are the Men’s and Women’s Club Eights. Mosman are to be congratulated for having two crews reach the final. The younger crew were only able to take back 18 of the 24 second handicap and so the older Mosman crew were able to take out this prestigious event.

Overall, NSW crews won a total of 41.75 Gold, 36.125 Silver, 42.25 Bronze for a total of 120.125 medals not counting all the Club medals. A large proportion of these medals were won by the cooperation of many clubs with small representations coordinating to form composite crews. For example, Shoalhaven RC with 4 rowers present formed many successful combinations with Balmain, St George, North Shore, Mosman and Leichhardt. The Northern Rivers clubs formed many good combinations amongst themselves. Rhett Pattison (Manning), Dean Souza (Endeavour), Sean Ryan (Brisbane Water) and Jason Waddell (Nepean) combined to win the MC4x. An outstanding Gold medal performance in an event with a large number of entries (22) was this composite crew: Jenny Wilson (Mosman), Christine Seeliger (Leichhardt), Katrina Davis (Shoalhaven) and Andrea Cooze (St George).

The results in the Interstate D category races were disappointing. Nevertheless, the Men’s Quad and Eight both came 2nd and the Women’s Eight came 3rd.

	Victoria	Queensland	NSW	ACT	SA	Tasmania
Gold	2	2	0	0	0	0
Silver	1	0	2	1	0	0
Bronze	0	0	1	0	2	1
Total	3	2	3	1	2	1

Fair results, but results that crews will want to improve upon next year when the AMC regatta moves to Perth.

NSW Masters Championships.

The regatta was held over two days of perfect racing conditions, but with a slight smoke haze from controlled burning in the lower Blue Mountains nearby. Fortunately the wind direction was favourable for us. Otherwise racing could have been interrupted.

Despite the unfavourable date relationship with the AMC’s which had some effect on competitor numbers, there were 606 competitors, slightly up from 2017, and very few events were not contested. Here are some highlights.

P.O. Box 208, FIVE DOCK N.S.W. 2046

*North Shore's dominance in the Women's Eights winning the C, D, E and F categories all by more than a length and taking the quinella in the D and E events.

*Tim Willsallen (Coffs Harbour) rowing down an age category continuing his AMC's form in a hard-fought battle with Carl Quitzau (SRC), by 0.62seconds in the ME1x. Tim was unable to maintain this form the following day coming second to Mark Tietjen (Glebe) in the F Category.

*Wendy Miller (Mosman) with a similar victory over Laura Dunn (UTS) in the WA1x.

*Sydney Rowing Club winning the MA-B4- from Canberra/Black Mountain and Mosman by margins 0.15 seconds and 1.37 seconds. The closest winning margin of the regatta was in the WF2x when Dianne Williams and Anne Parbury (Leichhardt) beat Chris Brennan and Kristen Wiltshire (Lake Macquarie) by 0.11 seconds.

*Leichhardt's come-from-behind win over Mosman and North Shore by 0.93 seconds in the MG8+.

*North Shore's WD4- holding off a spirited sprint by Manning/Lake Macquarie to win by 0.38 seconds.

*Another very close winning margin in the MD1x of 0.26 seconds saw Sean Ryan (Brisbane Water) win against Adam Ramshaw (Glebe).

* Finally, among many other notable achievements, of the eight finalists in the MF8+ there were seven full-club crews and one composite crew. It was reminiscent of the '60's and '70's when there was a vibrant competition in Eight-oared rowing amongst Sydney clubs. Here there were eights from St George, North Shore, Leichhardt, Mosman and Drummoyne battling it out with Canberra, Black Mountain and the composite Armidale/Mosman crew. Canberra came out on top in a closely contested race with the first four crews within a length of each other.

The final medal count for the regatta shows the first five places as follows...

Rank	Club/School	State	Gold G	Silver S	Bronze B	Total Medals
1	North Shore	NSW	13.375	11.375	6.125	30.875
2	Canberra	ACT	10.375	4.25	3.75	18.375
3	Mosman	NSW	9.875	9.125	10.5	29.5
4	Manning River	NSW	8.25	3	4.25	15.5
5	Sydney	NSW	7.5	1.5	0.125	9.125

The Point Score.

The final points tally after the RNSW Masters Championships has the first five clubs as follows. North Shore will retain the Spencer Grace OAM Combined Masters Shield.

North Shore Rowing Club	497.17
Mosman	450.01
Leichhardt	382.03
Sydney Women's MLC	231.17
Glebe	200.03

THE BOYS IN THE BOAT

Well before the 8.00am start of regattas at SIRC, the boat drivers are always there – rain or shine. They provide a safe platform for officials and on occasions competitors. They represent an important and essential aspect volunteer role in our sport

The following “first person” accounts by Laurie, Michael and Peter record their early affiliation with the sport.

Barry Moynahan

LAURIE ORMEROD

My first memories of rowing were in a clinker built four at Grammars's Shed on the Parramatta River, across from the clanging and banging of the old Mortlake gasworks. My second year was in the newly formed boat category of Junior VIII. Our cox was a small lad, the late Jimmy Goulding who later went on to become the NSW Stroke in the Kings Cup. In 1954 I represented Grammar in the 3rd Four at the GPS Head of the River on the Nepean, then a program of five races and crowds of thousands of noisy spectators on the Emu Plains side of the river.

P.O. Box 208, FIVE DOCK N.S.W. 2046

I joined North Shore Rowing Club for a Maiden Eight. Our Coach / Cox was the late Don Reid. Not a highly spectacular crew but we had some fun times in my introduction. I had saved up enough money to ask Hec Towns to build me a new scull. Most of my racing was done on Iron Cove in handicap races. Pre-race entertainment was by Billy Hatfield standing on his head in his scull. Could never work out how the late Kevin Webb could handicap me so well as a new comer. The Cock-of-The Harbour was another fun event, especially when handicapped on Iron Cove against the likes of Steve Roll, who with a half minute handicap, could still clip us on the finish.

After a couple of years overseas, in the late 1960's, I began coaching at North Shore. I progressed to Level III as an accredited Coach. I later hit the transition of North Shore to a Masters Club, and in the process ran out of young rowers wanting to compete at a State or National Rowing level. I was made a Life Member of North Shore in 2007.

My career with Umpire Boat driving started with the opening of the Sydney International Regatta Centre. I have driven for Rowing NSW at their Regattas since then. This includes State, National [including Kings Cup], Youth Cup and Universities Regattas. I had the pleasure to lead a team of 22 Boat Drivers for World Cup 1 in 2013. My most memorable regatta has been the 2009 World Masters Games totally organised and conducted by Rowing NSW. Apart from the many stories and the weather, Rowing NSW gained much praise for the conduct of the regatta from many of the overseas competitors.

In 2014, along with my noteworthy colleague Peter Boyce, we were jointly awarded Volunteers of the Year for the 2013-14 Season by Rowing NSW.

Umpire Boat Driving is no longer the hot or wet occasion with the old mix of sometimes unreliable metal boats. It is now a pleasurable experience, in Hungarian designed and built Olympic Class catamarans. These are now limited to approved and qualified drivers, all thanks to the initiative and care by Rowing NSW.

Today, Boat Drivers and Boat Race Officials are one happy family. I believe we have the most qualified and competent Boat Race Officials in Australia

PETER BOYCE

I started rowing with four friends at North Shore Rowing Club in 1965 and was coached by Peter Raper who had medalled At the Empire games in Perth. We were all about 24 or so. Our First win was on the two year old Lake Burley Griffin in feb 1966

I switched to sculling due to our four not always turning up and had some success as a lightweight sculler in a bespoke 28lb boat made by Ted Thoomey a club member. I was also Treasurer of the club.

In 1967 I went bush and as there was no water in the Castlereagh, did not return to rowing until 1973 with four friends at the then almost defunct University of Queensland Boat club in Brisbane where over the next 15 or so years, and with some seat changes, we enjoyed some success and the odd failure.

I became Captain and Treasurer of the club and in my first year -held my First Intervarsity Regatta on the Gold Coast which ended with the usual Police Raid and a couple of gentle Lock ups (Thanks SU) all good fun.

The Club went from strength to strength spawning many State Australian and Olympic Rowers and dominating the University Blues awards and Sportsman of the year. We also grew a Rhodes Scholar, who still holds the record for the fastest Oxford Cambridge Boat race and is currently President of Rowing WA, I was awarded an Honorary Blue for my services to UQBC and University Sport, where I was a director of the Sports Association, I was Vice President of Queensland Rowing and often drove the Boats to Local and interstate regattas the longest trip being from Brisbane to Perth. We held a lot of Intervarsity Regattas which always were covered by the Local TV stations in helicopters. During Expo 1988 we conducted a River race the same distance as the Oxford Cambridge, Race participants being Oxford, Cambridge, Princeton, Wasida, Kao, and Monash. The Premier was the Judge.

P.O. Box 208, FIVE DOCK N.S.W. 2046

Moving to Newcastle in 1990, with my Scull atop my car, I was not going to become involved again, just paddle around the Harbour. I met a dilapidated trailer laden with ancient Boats down by the riverside. "What are you up to" I asked - "starting a rowing club" was the reply. I wrote the membership Cheque on the bonnet of the car, became Treasurer for the next 19 years and the club is now thriving in a new club house full of great boats and active members. We have even spawned an Australian Rep.

The Club honoured me with a Life membership and the President and I cut the cake to celebrate the 25th Birthday of the rebirth of the Newcastle Rowing Club. My home is now Cooma with no club to join or form----- almost a relief.

I have been helping at regattas at Penrith, including the Olympics, and with Laurie Omerod was awarded Volunteer of the year in 2013-2014.

Its been a fun journey

MICHAEL ANGUS

I started rowing in about 1971 after going to boarding school at St Patricks College, Ballarat. We were living on Manus Island at the time. I rowed while at school but didn't continue after leaving although it was a sport I loved.

I didn't really have anything much to do with rowing again until my daughter started coxing.

My daughter attended Newcastle Grammar and began coxing about 6 years ago . Being a cox she would have a number of races during the day so I would spend the day at SIRC watching her. One day I ask did they need any boat drivers and I was surprised they said yes.

I started driving and loved it, I got to follow a lot of her races including a couple of Nationals and State races and see it from a completely different and an amazing prospective. I have also been fortunate enough to have followed a few Kings and Queens cup races. I will continue to drive as long as I am needed, and anyone thinking about it I suggest to come and have a go.

As a driver we meet some amazing people from all walks of live who have a common interest .As a parent it is the best way to be involved and watch your children participate in their sport without being an over the top parent.

My daughter has now left school and is going to Sydney uni, she is still very much involved and loves coxing. She currently is coxing at Mosman.

I own a hotel in Newcastle and travel in the morning leaving about 4.30 am for a one day event. On a two or three day event Ill stay in Penrith. I would recommend boat driving to anyone involved in rowing and who likes meeting new people.
