

FinxS Team Behavioural Analysis

How well do you understand the workings of your team?

Combine results of a number of people into one report - unlocking new understanding of how individuals and the team are working

See what people might be avoiding and where they might be experiencing the greatest stressors.

Highlight areas in which people are working (or not working) well together and understand more clearly why.

Improve communication and make informed, positive moves towards resolving underlying conflict.

See how effectively communication is flowing to and from the management level.

Develop the strength of people in combination