Transition to Work helps early school leavers and young people finding it hard to secure employment after school.

The program offers 25 hours of weekly support to be completed at your own pace. Hours are usually a mix of coaching, education or training, work experience and support from community services; depending on your personal needs and interests.

You'll work one-on-one with a dedicated coach and attend group workshops. We'll also stay in close contact with you via email, phone, text and social media. You will be well supported throughout the entire process.
