

A Different Kind of School

Warakirri College is an independent school for young people completing Year 10 and Higher School Certificate (HSC) studies. An initiative of MTC Australia, it's a different kind of school where students are encouraged to be themselves as they study in a flexible adult learning environment.

Warakirri means 'to stand and grow'. To help our students grow and achieve, Warakirri College offers an innovative program and a positive and welcoming space. Teachers help students build confidence, manage challenges in their life and work towards their personal learning and career goals.

Is Warakirri College for you?

Warakirri College is for students aged 15–22 who have disconnected from mainstream education or don't feel comfortable in a traditional school. Students can be referred from their current school, case worker or they can apply directly to the college.

Warakirri College is an independent high school for young people who have disconnected from mainstream education. Offering a flexible adult learning environment for Year 10 and HSC studies, Warakirri College is a social impact initiative of MTC Australia.

Warakirri College Information

Warakirri College is registered with the NSW Education Standards Authority to prepare students for their Year 10 RoSA or the HSC. It is supported by MTC Australia, a registered charity, and students do not pay fees. The college has modern campuses in Campbelltown, Fairfield and Blacktown, all close to public transport.

At Warakirri College, there are no fees or school uniforms. Students learn in smaller groups where teachers can offer more personalised support and classes are culturally diverse with a mix of ages and abilities.

Students have the opportunity to work on projects that interest them, gain qualifications and develop skills that will help them transition to the workplace or further education.

Why choose Warakirri College?

A place where everyone is accepted

Warakirri students come from a wide variety of backgrounds with diverse interests and needs. Teachers recognise that students have different learning styles and may also have gaps in their earlier schooling.

A place that celebrates individuality

At Warakirri, students are able to express their individuality, teaching and learning programs are flexible, every student's achievements are celebrated and relationships matter.

A place for support

Warakirri's qualified teachers and counsellors are professional, supportive and empathetic. They have experience working with young people who are facing challenging life circumstances and they work hard to provide guidance, support and encouragement.

A place of opportunity

Students have the opportunity to complete Year 10 or their HSC and build a clear pathway to employment, a Traineeship or further study at TAFE or university. They benefit from access to the MTC support network and community organisations.
