INLAND REVENUE PARTNERSHIP UPDATE

What assistance is available to members in 2009?

These days the IRD are running seminars for business people covering a range of topics, including:

- record keeping requirements
- income tax
- GST
- electronic filing and payments
- deductible expenses, and more.

Those new to business can get “the paperwork” off to a good start, while old hands can get a refresher and catch up with the latest changes. There are seminars throughout New Zealand.

To find out more about the seminars, go to www.ird.govt.nz/contact-us/seminars/ then click on your region and then click on the advisory email at the bottom of the workshop dates list to register.

Just starting out in business? Check out their new online service “The Tool for Business”. It brings all the essential tax information together in one place. You’ll find it at www.ird.govt.nz/yoursituation-bus/starting/tax-for-bus/. “The Tool for Business” is easy to use and all the information is in plain language.

If you need extra help, one of their community relationships advisors can visit you at work. This is a useful service if you need a hand setting up your accounting system, or help with your first GST return.

To make an appointment, go to www.ird.govt.nz/online-services/keyword/advice-assistance/online-business-advisory-visit.html

If you’re having difficulties with a tax matter, don’t let it stress you out. Community Relationships is there to help.
