National Auslan Interpreter
Booking & Payment Service

What is NDIS?

National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) is a new way of providing support to Australians with a permanent and significant disability.

This includes interpreting services for Deaf and hard of hearing people who use sign language to communicate.

Can I access a NDIS Plan?

You may be able to get a NDIS Plan if you are

- Deaf
- Under 65 years old
- Have Australian residency (Australian citizen or a permanent resident) and
- Live where NDIS is available.

Go to NDIS website (www.ndis.gov.au) to find out if you can get NDIS Plan.

Do I have to get a NDIS Plan?

It is your choice but if you live in an area where NDIS is available, NABS can't provide free interpreting for your private healthcare appointments.

If NDIS is not available in your area or you are not eligible, NABS will continue to provide free interpreting for your private healthcare appointments.

I have NDIS Plan, what do I do?

Tell NABS. NABS is a registered service provider for the NDIS.

If you have a NDIS Plan that includes interpreting hours, you can book an interpreter with NABS for your private healthcare appointments plus other appointments e.g. work, hobbies, financial advice, etc. You will pay for interpreting services from your NDIS Plan.

I am over 65.

For now, if you are over 65 with no NDIS Plan, NABS is free for your private healthcare appointments. If you get NDIS Plan before 65 and you still have NDIS Plan after 65, you will pay for interpreting from your NDIS Plan.
