

Hive Legal is an innovative law firm which provides high quality commercial and corporate legal solutions to clients in highly regulated sectors.

Our experienced Health team has a real passion for working in the health sector. We work with health clients, both public and private, on a broad range of issues including health regulation, contracts and procurements, privacy and data protection, information technology and intellectual property. We help to mitigate key regulatory risks by providing complex or BAU legal advice, drafting appropriate contractual protections, and assisting with operational, strategic and process design and training.

Our team enjoys the challenge of advising clients on the often complex and frequently changing health regulatory landscape and has particular experience and a deep understanding of the PHI-specific regulatory regime. We also advise on a broad range of other key regulatory regimes including the Private Health Insurance Act, Medicare regulation, health practitioner laws, health practitioner codes of conduct, anti-incentive regimes, public health regulation, therapeutic goods, and health services regulation (including informed consent to treatment, legal considerations in end of life decision making, organ donation, mental health regulation and mandatory reporting).
