TRANSFER PAPER / FABRIC / WEBBING

Transfer paper Instructions:      Sheets of 1m x 1.5m and 1m x 80cm

1. Measure the piece of thermoplastic that you choose to use.
  2. Cut a piece of coloring paper slightly smaller than the plastic.
  3. Place the plastic into your oven and heat to its optimum temperature.
  4. When the optimum temperature is reached, remove the plastic from the oven and place on a flat surface.
  5. Place the coloring paper image side down on the hot plastic. Take care to prevent bubbles and wrinkles by using thermal gloves and very slight pressure.
  6. Remove the coloring paper by peeling it off from the plastic after 15 - 30 seconds. The actual coloring process takes place at a temperature of 338°F (170°C) to 428°F (220°C).
  7. The plastic may be returned to the oven if necessary.
- The plastic may now be formed in the usual manner. Take care to not over stretch the plastic, as this will distort the color image.

This quick and easy method of coloring keeps the surface homogeneous and the color can not be scratched off. There are no changes in the vacuum forming process. Color shades in the brochure may differ from the shaded on the finished material. Color may be more intense or lighter depending on the material used. Coloring paper will stick to the plastic if it is overheated or if the paper is left in contact with the plastic for an excessive amount of time. Remove the coloring paper before vacuuming the thermoplastic. Please store papers in a dry and cool place.

It is recommended that you spray transfer paper with silicone spray prior to laying it on the plastic. To enhance the color of the transfer paper, spray both the plastic and the transfer paper with silicone spray before laying the transfer.

Best Storage Conditions: Dry, cool dark place

Warning: The paper cannot be used during the deep drawing process

Transfer fabric instructions:      Sheets of 1m x 1.5m

Transfer fabrics can be used for printing on PE and PP materials by thermal transfer printing or laminating.

The printing process is the same as transfer paper, both for PE and for PP materials.

Transfer fabrics can also be laminated. For this purpose they are sewn into shape and used like a tricot stockinette as the first and/or last layer in the laminate. The printing faces the side that will be visible later.
